

southern exposure

WHAT'S NOW, NEW AND NEXT AT SOUTHERN OREGON UNIVERSITY

Guest Speaker Coming to SOU, Dr. Sami Schalk

We are thrilled to announce a very special event coming to Southern Oregon University!

Please, join Disability Resources and the EDI Office in welcoming Dr. Sami Schalk, acclaimed author, scholar, and speaker, for a powerful and uplifting presentation titled:

Bringing Joy Back to Campus

Date: Thursday, May 22

Time: 5:30 PM

Location: Stevenson Union 323 (SU 323)

FREE for all attendees!

Dr. Sami Schalk is an Associate Professor of Gender & Women's Studies at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. Her interdisciplinary research focuses on disability, race, and gender in contemporary American literature and culture.

This is an incredible opportunity to come together as a campus community, reflect, and reignite the joy and connection that make student life so meaningful.

Everyone is welcome!

For more information or if you need disability accommodations, please contact Disability Resources at 541-552-6213 or dr@sou.edu.

This event is proudly sponsored by the Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion Office and the Disability Resources Office.

Let's bring the joy—see you there!