YEAR OF THE GINKGO

the ginkgo symbolizes, both worldwide and on the Hilltop, and we celebrate the alumni, students, faculty, and staff who grow and thrive here — in purpose, connection, resilience, caring, creativity, leadership, tenacity, and confidence.

The Birmingham-Southern College ginkgo trees were planted between Munger Hall and the Stockham Building in 1957 in memory of Frances Sensabaugh Real '55. In the 65 years since, the trees have grown into campus icons. Throughout The Year of the Ginkgo, we honor what
