

Alumni Updates

- Nicole Archambeau (she was our Alumna Spotlight in The Archive 1.5) came to campus virtually to discuss her book, Souls Under Siege: Stories of War, Plague and Confession in Fourteenth-Century Provence, which was recently reviewed in the Los Angeles Review of Books by John Arnold, a highly esteemed historian of medieval Europe. Read the review here!
- Sydney Martin
 - "My name is Sydney Martin (c/o 2019) I am living in Irvine, CA because I attend the UC Irvine School of Law as a 2L (second year). I like to do hand lettering (calligraphy) and make handmade cards when I have some free time. I will be working at the California Supreme Court this summer and have been admitted to the Fall 2021 UCDC program as a law student (this will be my second time doing UCDC, the first time was in 2017 with the help of the History Department's Amy Talbott Leach Memorial Award)."
- Luanne Sanders Andreotti
 - "I co-founded and serve as editor-in-chief of docent to docent, a digital magazine for the 317 supporting and active art guides at the Fine Arts Museums of San Francisco. We cover the dynamic personalities and skills that go beyond giving stellar tours, as well as highlighting curators and art exhibits, our virtual touring activities, entertainment, art around town, and the diversity training we are undergoing to support the museums' goal of being an anti-racist institution."
- Clifton M. Chow
 - "After graduating from UCSB I've been living in Boston for nearly 30 years. I attended graduate school at Harvard, Johns Hopkins and completed my PhD in Health Economics and Health Policy at Brandeis University. I work as a research consultant and have a faculty research appointment at Harvard Medical School. I have just submitted a publication pending review to PLOS One Journal. It is on a new predictive model for Covid-19 that takes into account state level mitigation strategies predicting compliance. The paper has a web portal for researchers and the general public.
bentleyuresearch.shinyapps.io/bentleyucovidmsc/
 - I also teach as an adjunct faculty courses in Data Science, Statistics, Economics and Project Management. I still read several historical monographs a year, and I remain devoted to Ancient and Medieval history. I am married to an Italian national from Florence who is trying to persuade me to be more passionate about Renaissance history and literature."
- Evan Raleigh
 - "I have worked as a Police Officer for the last 10 years. I currently work in the greater Los Angeles area, where I serve as a Field Training Officer, Drug Recognition Expert, Defensive Tactics Instructor and SWAT Operator. I have received multiple commendations for my work in tense, uncertain and rapidly evolving situations. The UCSB History Department taught me critical thinking and analytical skills I use daily. This skillset has proved tremendously valuable in the current climate."

- James C Kelley
 - "I'm a teacher at a small charter school in Santa Fe, NM called The MASTERS Program (it's an acronym but I can't remember it all). Dreams post-pandemic are to go back to California so my extended family can see my two year old."
- Bradford Brown
 - Associate Professor of History at Bradley University, Peoria, Illinois, www.bradley.edu/academic/departments/his/faculty/profile.dot?id=133_747
- Steven Leibos
 - sagethoughts.wordpress.com/about/