

SNAP Eligibility Reminder for Students

Did you know that students who attend higher education at least half-time may be eligible for SNAP, a supplemental nutrition assistance program? The three simplest ways that students can qualify for SNAP are: being work-study eligible (NOTE- you do not have to been awarded it or be utilizing it), have an Estimated Family Contribution (EFC) of $0, or be able to explain to a Department of Human Services caseworker how your degree is related to your intended career. For more information on how to qualify visit- <https://oregonhunger.org/snap-for-students/> If you have any questions check the Basic Needs Resource webpage!