

HAVE YOU CONSIDERED?

Do you want to learn more about leadership but the professional development classes either don't match your schedule or you have already completed them? You might want to consider taking an outside class.

With MC's drive toward innovation, the following class may be of interest. For only $49 plus a book (total cost under $100), you have access to Bill George, an innovative leader and CEO, author, and now professor at Georgia Institute of Technology.

Innovation Leadership

Self-paced, 6 weeks, 4-6 hours/week

In the 21st Century, there are millions of innovators, but few authentic innovation leaders can inspire and guide innovators and their teams to create breakthrough products with their innovative ideas.

Former Medtronic Chair & CEO Professor Bill George shows you how to become an innovation leader. He will cover the essential elements of knowing yourself and your unique leadership gifts, motivations, and the purpose of your leadership, along with personal stories of exceptional innovation leaders, concepts, exercises, tools, and practical tips to help you become an exceptional innovation leader.

NOTE: ELITE does not intend to endorse this class; it is offered for information purposes only.
