

Eunice Dollete

Assistant Director for Cultural Programming and Social Justice Education, GW Office for Diversity, Equity and Community Engagement

Eunice “Eunz” Dollete (they/them/theirs) is the inaugural Assistant Director for Cultural Programming and Social Justice Education for the Office of Diversity, Equity and Community Engagement. Eunice identifies as a community organizer and a scholar-agitator for justice.

Before coming to GW, they served as an Academic Success Advisor at Clark University where they received their Bachelor's in Political Science and Master's in Public Administration, co-founded the Food Insecurity Resistance Movement (FIRM) Food Pantry as well as an autonomous mutual aid network serving low-income, BIPOC, LGBTQIA+ and other marginalized students. They also served in multiple mentorship positions for first-generation and students of color at the Multicultural and First-Generation Student Support Office, where they worked to revive and facilitate the Queer and Trans Students of Color Affinity Space and developed programs on social justice, leadership and navigating first-year transitions.

In their free time, they enjoy DJing for community, cultural, identity-based events, as well as learning about and providing gender-affirming haircuts.
