

Community-Based Participatory Research Workshop Series

FALL 2020

University of Missouri – St. Louis

UMSL

9:00 – 10:30 a.m. Online

Comprised of four parts, this Community-Based Participatory Research (CBPR) Workshop Series is designed to provide information and training in community-based participatory research to enhance research partnerships that address community issues. This series aims to build the capacity of researchers and community stakeholders to create and maintain long-term, collaborative community partnerships in the St. Louis region. Sessions 1 and 2 are required in order to attend sessions 3 and 4 which are limited to 20 faculty spots. Community partners are welcome to attend all sessions. Workshop sessions will be held virtually from 9:00 - 10:30 a.m. and cover the following topics:

Session 1      Friday, September 25

Academic Research in the Context of Race and Community in St. Louis

---

Session 2      Friday, October 2

Basics of Community-Based Participatory Research

---

Session 3      Friday, October 16

Trust Building

---

Session 4      Friday, October 30

Partnership Connections

---

The accompanying document provides descriptions and objectives for each session. A subsequent session will be offered in November to provide information on community-focused and -driven grant opportunities to support faculty research interests.
