

UMSL Early Career Research Network

Get Connected!

The Early Career Research Network is an intentional effort to help faculty quickly navigate academic life at UMSL, build productive research programs, obtain funding and build supportive networks of colleagues. The group meets each month during the 2020-2021 academic year. Chris Spilling, Vice Chancellor for Research facilitates, along with funded investigators from multiple disciplines. Tenure track faculty in years 1-4 are encouraged to apply.

9:00 a.m. – 11:30 a.m, second Fridays of the month

Topics include:

- Finding collaborators
- Developing your research agenda
- The UMSL proposal development process
- Developing competitive research proposals
- Peer review
- Research Ethics
- Research and funding resources
- Preparing for tenure
- Navigating federal funding agencies

ELIGIBILITY: Early-career, full time, tenure track faculty. First and second year faculty will receive first slots.

EXPECTATIONS: Participants must make a full year commitment to the network.

APPLY: Complete the brief application and obtain your chair's signature. Send the completed application to Dr. Chris Spilling at spillingc@umsl.edu no later than August 3, 2020.
