“Order from Chaos” is a 15” x 22” watercolor which I was fortunate enough to have featured in Watercolor Artist magazine.

It began as a bit of play with negative and positive painting using regular watercolors, some water-soluble pigment powders, and a bit of alcohol (on the paper, not in the artist).

It is a favorite of mine with some squares appearing and disappearing in the blur of background color as well as the intersection of diagonals, all bringing some depth and movement to the work.
