

UC San Diego

Moore's Cancer Center

You are cordially invited to the

Cancer Control Program Work In Progress Seminar Series

Hybrid Meeting (In-Person/Virtual)

Wednesday, December 7, 2022

'Colorectal cancer disparities across Latin America: a mortality trend analysis from 1990 to 2019'

Presented by:

Raphael Guimaraes, PhD,
Visiting Associate Researcher
Herbert Wertheim School of Public Health
& Human Longevity Science

Professor Raphael Mendonça Guimarães is currently a Distinguished Chair at Herbert Wertheim School of Public Health and Human Longevity Science, University of California, San Diego, and a Public Health Research Scientist at Fundação Oswaldo Cruz. Leader of the Research Group "LEXIS - Demography, Health, and Society." He is also the coordinator of the Population and Health Working Group of the Brazilian Association of Population Studies member of ABRASCO Health and Population Information Working Group. He has experience in Public Health, emphasizing Demography, Epidemiology, Public Policy, Social inequalities, and poverty. Major topics of research: mortality, levels, and trends; epidemiological transition and health transition; causes of death and its changes over long periods; inequality in the population's morbidity and mortality; cancer mortality and morbidity; life expectancy and longevity.

---

Seminar Meeting begins promptly at 12:00pm

Lunch provided starting at 11:30am

Comor Commons Conference Room
MCC 2nd floor

Zoom link: <https://uhealth.zoom.us/j/89946104764>

We value your input and look forward to your participation!