

Greetings Fellow Artists!

I hope the year has started with a bang for all of you. Mine certainly has! I'm pleased to announce that I will be the featured artist at The Fine Arts Club of Pasadena's February banquet held at The Athenaeum at Cal Tech. The banquet is on February 6, 2023, starting at 6:00 PM. You may have seen a notice in our Member News post. I invite you to come at least to the reception if not the dinner. The Fine Arts Club of Pasadena is partnering with PSA by featuring our artists at their banquets. This is a great opportunity for both organizations. Thanks to Vic Picou for getting this going for PSA.

Here are two opportunities for you to check out:

Once again, because we are a non-profit organization and volunteer based, it is important for our members to contribute to the inner workings of PSA. There are lots of opportunities to volunteer that require short time commitments. Exhibitions is always looking for assistance with installing shows. The Centennial Committee needs help with researching former members to be showcased during our centennial celebrations. Hospitality needs assistance with bringing refreshments to our Membership meetings – all purchases are reimbursed. The web-master needs assistance with data entry and other web related things. So, there is quite a bit to choose from. You can always contact me for more information and who to contact.

As I mentioned last month, please keep us posted through Member News about all the events or exhibitions you will be participating in. It is easy to submit your information through the PSA website. Member News is published every Monday.

Finally, the next New Member Screening is tentatively scheduled for Sunday April 16th at the Blinn House. More information is on the PSA website. Please encourage your artist friends to submit for membership.

All the best, see you in February,
Kathleen to some, Kathy to others
